

On-Site Shotcrete Informational Presentations

Who?

The American Shotcrete Association (ASA) is a non-profit organization committed to the safe and beneficial use of the shotcrete process.

What is the cost?

ASA Informational Presentations are free to the host organization with five or more architects, engineers or specifiers in attendance.

What is the value to your organization?

The shotcrete process offers numerous quality, efficiency, and sustainability advantages, but proper knowledge of the process is critical to the creation of a quality specification and for the success of any specifier /owner employing the process. Maintaining a high level of quality for concrete placed via the shotcrete method is ASA's primary concern and we have found this type of on-site presentation to be an excellent tool for all involved.

What information is offered in a typical presentation?

ASA informational presentations are non-proprietary. With a target audience of 5 or more, presentations are often of the 60 minute "lunch-box" type format, but can be tailored to any format you wish. A typical general presentation would include the following:

1. Introduction to Shotcrete
2. Advantages and benefits using the shotcrete process
3. Dry-mix & wet-mix processes
4. Specifications, material considerations, typical performance guidelines
5. Surface preparation
6. Pre-construction, jobsite conditions, curing methods
7. Questions and answers

ASA is also a registered AIA/CES Provider. Current ASA Presentations offering AIA/LUs include:

- Shotcrete for repair and rehabilitation of concrete structures
- Shotcrete for underground construction
- Introduction to Shotcrete
